

OMTG - Purpose

The Optomechanical/Instrument Technical Group (OMTG) is a voluntary association of individuals concerned with the successful construction and application of optical instruments. The association includes individuals from many disciplines; chemists, physicists, mathematicians, engineers (electrical, mechanical, civil, industrial...), technicians, designers and many others who contribute to the successful development, construction and operation of new (and often one-off) optical products.